OLYMPIC BAND'S PROGRAM PLEASE WEST END THROG

Nearly 5,000 persons listened to the open air concert given by the Olympic band at Hancock avenue and Pine street, last night, and enjoyed it so well that every number was repeatedly encored. The band was obliged to give a program of 28 numbers before its auditors were satisfied and the concert lasted for one hour and a half. The immense crowd that turned out filled the square where the concert was given and both sides of Hancock avenue were lined with automobiles. In the program were several Hungarian selections.

The band had 25 members under the direction of John J. Broadbrook. The band has made a bid to enlist as the Marine band of the Connecticut Naval Reserves which Adjutant-General George M. Cole has recently ordered formed. There is a Marine band in New Haven which has been serving the Naval Reserves but its members object to enlisting in the Naval service.

There has been some talk of transferring the headquarters of the Naval Reserves to Bridgeport because it is a more central point between the stations where the divisions of the Naval Reserves are placed. Director Broadbrook of the Olympic band has been in consultation with Lieut. A. J. Merritt, commandant of the local division and has offered to enlist his bandmen if they can be designated as the Marine band for the reserves.

The people of the city are not disposed to leave their homes for an unknown fate without offering some resistance. This news is causing considerable discussion in Athens and the public is beginning to regard the situation with anxiety."

INTENSE INTEREST IS SHOWN IN ORDINANCE ABOUT THREE DECKERS

Indications point to one of the largest gatherings ever held at a public hearing on any proposed ordinance, when at the meeting in the city hall to-night the ordinance to forbid future building of three-decker tenement houses of wood will be discussed. Members of the Good Housing association and City Plan commission will speak in favor of the ordinance while many builders will undoubtedly oppose it.

BODY OF AMERICAN, LOST ON LUSITANIA, IS WASHED ASHORE

London, July 19.—A body supposed to be that of Lindon W. Bates, Jr., of New York, who lost his life on the Lusitania, has been washed ashore on the Limerick coast. A telegram to that effect was received today from Wesley Frost, American consul at Queenstown, by Newton B. Knox, an American mining engineer and friend of Mr. Bates.

The telegram says a gold watch and a gold cigarette case marked with Mr. Bates' monogram were found on the body. Measurements of the body also indicate that the identification is correct. Mr. Knox will leave tonight for Queenstown to take charge of the body.

KILLS SON AND DAUGHTER, THEN ATTACKS WIFE WHO WRESTS RIFLE FROM HIM

Groton, Mass., July 19.—Harry Nutting shot and killed his son, Everett, and his daughter, Louise, with a repeating rifle while they slept early today and then attacked his wife. After wrestling with her husband some time, Mrs. Nutting succeeded in getting the gun away from him and called the police who locked the man up on a charge of murder.

Neighbors stated that Nutting, who is a cigar maker, had been considered slightly deranged for some time. Everett Nutting, was 21 years of age and worked for his father. His sister, who was a school teacher, was 19. Mrs. Nutting was awakened by the report of a gun from an adjoining room, followed almost immediately by the sound of a second shot. She rushed out of her room and he pointed the weapon at her but in a struggle she took it from him. In their bedrooms, Mrs. Nutting found the bodies of the son and daughter. The former had a bullet wound over the eye and the girl had been shot through the ear. Nutting was taken to the jail at Ayre. He refused to make any statement.

GOVERNMENT MAY TAKE OVER WELSH MINES IN AN EFFORT TO SETTLE BIG LABOR WAR

London, July 19.—Reports from the South Wales coal fields indicate no progress in the negotiations for settlement of the strike, but efforts will be made at the cabinet meeting today to find some means of speedily solving the labor problem. It is generally believed in the mining districts, however, that no satisfactory lay out of the present difficulties can be found unless the government takes over the mines and operates them during the period of the war.

One of the first things the miners demand is the withdrawal of the proclamation which brings them under the provisions of the munitions bill. They resent the idea of working under coercion and they will not consent to it at any price. It is known that representatives of the government, who are conversant with the spirit of the miners, take a gloomy view of the present situation, but if the proclamation is withdrawn and the government takes over the mines, it is quite possible the men will be prevailed upon to work for the state on satisfactory terms. The idea of private aggrandizement would just be eliminated.

The mine owners are alarmed at the great expense to which they are being put, in addition to their loss of profit. The daily expense is estimated at $100,000. The suggestion is made by Thomas Richards, member of parliament and general secretary to the South Wales miners' federation that the men be allowed to go back to work on their own terms, negotiations for a settlement to be resumed while work is proceeding.

tenements who helps a thief to rob the house where she is employed in order that she may get the money to leave the crowded city and bear a child under more healthful and normal conditions.

"Kindling," which has a tremendous Broadway success and which is now produced in pictures by arrangement with E. J. Bowes, is not exactly a drama on a theory but is more strictly a "theme play" than any of the photodramas heretofore offered under the management of the Lasky management. Though it does not advocate socialism, it is a terrible attack on those rich property holders who, while pretending to be charitably inclined, force their tenants to live under the most unsanitary conditions. It is not a "sensitive" play, but it deals very plainly with the necessity of giving children who are brought into the world a fair chance in life.
